Olympic Oak:

Planted in 1987 by former U.S. Olympic track coach Don Holst. The acorn was a specimen of the oak tree given as a prize to John Woodruff, the 800-meter gold medalist in the 1936 Olympics. The oak is the national tree from Germany, where the Olympics were hosted that year. Irwin was chosen by Holst as the site to plant the acorn because the library used to house the National Track and Field Hall of Fame Historical Research Library Collection.
